STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

A Bill to amend the Insurance Act, 1938, was pending in the Constituent Assembly (Legislative) and it was with the permission of the House withdrawn in January 1948, in order to enable reconsideration of the provisions thereof in the light of the changed conditions arising out of the Partition and the changed constitutional position. That Bill contained provisions designed to implement the main recommendations made in 1945 by a Committee constituted under the Chairmanship of Sir Cowasjee Jehangir. That Committee, it may be recalled, went into the question of frequent changes in the management of Insurance Companies and other undesirable features in the administration of Insurance Companies. There were also, in the Bill, other provisions limiting the commission method of payment of remuneration and placing a limitation on the expenses of insurers, and was in the form in which the Select Committee of the old Legislative Assembly had altered it in March 1947.

2. The Government appointed an Informal Committee of persons knowledgeable in insurance matters to examine the provisions of the above Bill and also to review all the provisions of the Insurance Act with a view to suggesting suitable amendments having regard to the changed circumstances. The report of this Committee was further considered by the Insurance Advisory Committee and the present Bill aims to incorporate in the law provisions which Government, in the light of all this further examination, consider desirable.

3. This Bill incorporates the main provisions in the old Bill which aim at: (i) making it difficult for designing financiers to get control of insurance companies or to use insurance funds for speculative purposes, and (ii) preventing interlocking of interests between insurance companies and banks. In the matter of limitation of over-all expenses, however, present opinion is that it would be inadvisable to follow the somewhat rigid lines of the provisions in the old Bill. Instead, it is proposed that a statutorily recognised association of insurers should be formed with two executive committees—one for the life business and the other for the general business—to determine annually the reasonable limits for expenses of insurers having regard to all the circumstances relevant thereto during the year and to recommend to Government action in respect of those that exceed the reasonable limit.

4. Provisions have also been included to strengthen Government's control over insurers by inspection of the insurers' books, whenever required, to liberalise the conditions of service of insurance agents and to enable the conversion by a less tedious procedure of proprietary joint stock insurance companies into 'mutual' companies. It is also proposed to institute a class of Approved Investments, and to refix the minimum proportions of the Indian Life Fund that should remain invested in Government securities, Approved Securities and Approved Investments.

5. Brief explanatory notes on the clauses of the Amending Bill are given in the annexed Notes on Clauses.

NEW DELHI;

The 7th November, 1949.

NOTES ON CLAUSES

Clause 2 seeks to extend the Insurance Act to the States for which the Dominion Legislature can legislate on the subject of insurance.

Clause 3, among other matters, enlarges the scope of "approved securities" by including shares of any Corporation whose principal and dividend are guaranteed by the Central or a Provincial Government and, to the extent that such securities were held prior to partition, securities which have now become Pakistan Government securities and Karachi Port Trust securities:

brings the definitions of "auditor" and "Government security" upto date;

adds definitions of "banking company", "chief agent", "investment company", "principal agent", "private company", "public company" and "special agent"; and defines the classes of fire, life, marine and miscellaneous insurance business.

Clause 4 changes the designation of the Superintendent of Insurance.

Clause 5 clarifies the rule of construction in applying the Act to the Acceding States and provides for the appointment of the Controller-General of Insurance.

Clauses 6 and 47 provide that only a public company or a Co-operative society shall carry on insurance business. Power to grant exemption to cover cases such as superannuation funds is retained.

Clause 7 provides for cancellation of the registration of an insurer who carries on any business other than insurance or business incidental thereto and for reviving the cancellation under certain circumstances.

United Kingdom Government securities will also cease to be authorised investments for this purpose and time is allowed for the change over. Non-Indian insurers should hold their compulsory investments in India.

Clause 17 institutes a class of "Approved Investments" and places certain restrictions on the investment of life insurance fund and certain other funds of an insurer including restrictions on the amount that can be kept by an insurer in the shares of any one banking, investment or joint stock company and on the amount that can be kept in deposit with any one banking company. Clause 21 makes the management of an insurance company as distinct from the company itself liable for losses resulting from unapproved investments.

Clause 22 is clarificatory.

Clause 23 seeks to restrict commission-method of remuneration to chief, principal, special and insurance agents, to prohibit nomination of a successor or assignment of office by a manager, managing director, or other officer and to check payment of excessive remuneration to insurance executives.

Clause 24 seeks to prohibit insurers and banks from having common officers and requires insurers of more than a certain size to have only whole-time officers.

Clause 25 authorises the Central Government to order investigation of the affairs of an insurer and after investigation to secure appropriate action being taken.

Clauses 26, 27 and 28 provide for the Controller-General sanctioning schemes for the transfer and amalgamation of the business of insurers.

Clause 29 provides for the appointment of a guardian to receive policy monies on behalf of a minor nominee Clause 30 contains amendments consequential to the provisions in clause 31.

Clauses 31 and 45 provide for the control of over-all expenses of all insurers through the medium of a statutory association of insurers and two Councils operating through two Executive Committees with Government representation, one being for life and the other for general insurance. The General Insurance Council is also to regulate the tariff rates and conditions. Maximum rates of commission to insurance agents and special agents in life insurance business and to insurance agents and principal agents in general insurance business are prescribed.

Clause 32 provides for triennial licences instead of annual licences for insurance agents.

Clauses 33 and 65 provide for the licensing of principal, chief and special agents and the cancellation of such licences and also regulate the terms of employment, activities and contracts of principal, chief and special agents.

Clause 34 liberalises the conditions for compulsory continuance of payment of renewal commission to an insurance agent.
